Dear Douglas,

I suppose you are safe in Brooklyn now. How did you enjoy your trip? Dick comes to see me almost every night and I guess he wonders where you are. The lion looks kind of lonesome too and doesn't growl any more. Write me and tell me about the trip. Was mother sea-sick and how did the mouse get along. Daddy.

This is a picture of "I" company of the 49th Highlanders. I am in front at the right marked "x." I guess this is my first appearance on a postcard. I'm afraid you would hardly recognize me. I'm sending you a paper with a short account of our dance which was a great success from a social standpoint.
We seem to enjoy a large share of popularity.
You will see by the heading I have changed my lodging place. I received your letter and will answer it shortly.

Avoid last night. It snowed nearly all the way from Montreal west and it is not very warm here. I am back at the old address. Am sending a card to George to Newfort as I don't know his address. Will write later.
